

Preventing The Spread of HIV/AIDS One Book At A Time

African-American women are the fastest growing population being diagnosed with HIV and/or AIDS. In this season of giving, six award-winning authors have teamed with Red Rose Publishing to donate all proceeds from the anthology Destination Romance to the South Side Help Center, because, after all, sometimes it is better to give than receive.

Every penny (minus printing cost and distribution) is being donated to the South Side Help Center, a non-profit organization that provides HIV/AIDS prevention intervention programs in the African-American community. We may not be able to save the world, but it feels good to know our love of reading and writing may be able to save one of our sisters, mothers, aunts, nieces, daughters, and friends.

We can not do this alone. We need your support in buying this book and telling all of your friends about Destination Romance, a Series and Anthology that will have you wanting to make waves in the sea of Love!

Each novella will be released as an e-book in Oct.-Nov 2009. Then just in time for Christmas, the couples' stories will be released as a print anthology, titled Destination Romance.

Destination Romance: While on a cruise to Jamaica, six couples discover the "Love Boat" is a lot more than a television series from the 1980s, and this time the destination is hot, steamy romance.

As A Whisper

AlTonya Washington

Izaya Charles was devastated when Gunther Datari ended their passionate and lengthy relationship. Work keeps her going until she and Gunther meet aboard the newest ship in his fleet. Will desire or devastation be the outcome of their reunion?

Show Me!

Barbara Keaton

Cammie's life would never be the same following a chance meeting (or so she thought) with Jacques, a man many years her junior who would grant her unselfish, unbridled passion!

Trapped In Paradise

Deatri King-Bey

After escaping an abusive marriage, Sandra Write swore never to allow anyone to trap her again. Then comes along Jeremy King, the kind of man any woman would beg to be trapped in paradise with.

Seaside Seduction

A.C. Arthur

Mac should be the last person to teach his best friend to love and trust when he's been lying to her for years. And now that his game is up, he can only hope the beautiful Caribbean days and sensual seaside nights will be enough to make CJ dismiss the mistakes of the past to sail towards a brighter future?

On My Knees

Dyanne Davis

Carmen placed everything before love until love was nothing more than the stories told in romance novels. Aaron is an accomplished romance author, but wants the real thing. A cruise brings the two together. Renewed love, with a healthy dose of lust, works to keep them together.

More And More

Niobia Bryant

Mocha Nivens enjoys the casual nature of her long-term, long-distance relationship with businessman Dean Kincaid, but she ends it when he moves back to town wanting more. When Dean dates other women, Mocha realizes what she's lost, but is it to late to claim the love she deserves?
